ABOUT US

Healing Housing is a 501c(3) non-profit created for women without financial resources, who are in recovery from alcohol and drug addiction. They have experienced trauma, poverty, incarceration and are facing homelessness when they arrive from an area treatment center or from jail.

We began in 2017 as a recovery housing facility, and over the years we have added a full suite of services to become a comprehensive program that has assisted over 300 women on their recovery journey.

Two Events for Healing

Love Lunch '26

May 19, 2026

Together, we run the plays that help each woman rebuild her life – providing the tools, care, and coaching she needs to recover, grow, and ultimately thrive. We invite you to our ninth annual fundraiser, Love Lunch.

This year's event will feature our exciting Keynote , NFL Broadcaster and motivational speaker, Laura Okmin.

A trailblazing sports broadcaster turned leadership and connection coach, Laura spent nearly 30 years on the NFL sidelines, covering over 20 Super Bowls. Today, she brings powerful lessons on resilience, leadership, and communication from elite sports into real life—delivering dynamic storytelling that inspires true comeback moment.

Because every comeback needs a community – and this is our season.

Where We Meet

August 2026

Where We Meet is a collaborative arts initiative between Healing Housing and FALL, a Nashville-based nonprofit performance company. This project merges the transformative power of movement with the life-changing work of recovery, creating a space where art and healing intersect.

The production will feature an original aerial and contemporary dance performance located at OZ Arts Nashville, that embodies the complexities, resilience, and stories of women in recovery. Every leap, every reach, becomes a living testament to the courage it takes to heal.

Even for those who have never faced addiction, the performance offers a visceral, visual interpretation that meets people where they are, inviting them into empathy and connection.

NEW

A FULL YEAR OF LOVE

We're excited to introduce a year-long sponsorship opportunity that supports Healing Housing's mission to provide safe shelter and compassionate care for women in recovery.

This expanded partnership offers meaningful recognition at our largest fundraising events and year-round visibility across our community—creating lasting impact for women rebuilding their lives and powerful exposure for our sponsors.
